Lisini's Brunello di Montalcino '90 has a clear-cut, brilliant ruby color and the scent is an excellent blend of red fruits and well-defined, intense aromas of sweet and spicy wood. Both the structure and the suppleness are notable, as is the length, with an evolving finish of red fruit. It is a complex wine, still very young, with a certain similarity to Chianti in the intelligent use of wood and the emphasis on freshness: a stylistic choice made jointly by Donna Elina Lisini, her grandson Lorenzo and winemaker Franco Bernabei.
